

Debriefing the Lessons Learned from Building Mega-Dams

Instructions: First respond to these questions in writing on your own. Next discuss with a partner. Third take part in the large group sharing about these questions. Finally, return to your responses and make a additions or changes after hearing from others.

What was real about this process?

What felt artificial about this learning event?

If you were officially commissioned to make this dam recommendation, what else would you need to know?